JOSEPHINE – H.M.S. PINAFORE – NY GILBERT & SULLIVAN PLAYERS

But of all the performers, Seipel most perfectly captures the mixture of musical virtuosity, outrageous melodrama, and sharp comic timing that makes Gilbert and Sullivan operettas a joy to behold nearly 150 years later.

Zachary Stewart, TheaterMania

WITCH/MOTHER – MELISSA SCHIFLETT'S MY UNDYING LOVE – AMERICAN CHAMBER OPERA

The absolute star of the show was Michelle Seipel, who brought a delightful sense of mischief to the role of the Witch. Seipel's bright, clear voice, matched with an endlessly expressive command of the libretto and a dancer's command of the stage, injected life into a character who was otherwise confusingly written.

Callum John Blackmore, Parterre Box

It's always a pleasure to hear Ms. Seipel, who is well known in New York musical theater. Her strong, easily produced soprano, and her remarkable comedic skills (I've only seen her in comic roles, but I'm sure she'd be a fine Tosca) are beautifully focused. She begins as Mother, then morphs into the Witch (strange how often that seems to happen in preadolescent fantasies). Ms. Seipel is lovely, and a skilled musical actress, something I am always happy to say about opera singers.

SUSANNA – LE NOZZE DI FIGARO – GENEVA LIGHT OPERA

Soprano Michelle Seipel as Susanna...is an ideal match for Figaro. Dramatically and vocally, she consistently impresses and charms across the ever-shifting situations. Together, they light up the stage.

Elena Ciletti, Finger Lake Times

GHOST OF CHRISTMAS PAST & MRS. CRATCHIT – A CHRISTMAS CAROL – SEASCOAST REPERTORY THEATRE

Michelle Seipel's performance...is worth the price of admission alone. A stunningly gifted soprano, Seipel is a consummate triple threat. Every scene she's in, is magical.

Tamara Le, Spotlight: Seacoast Arts & Entertainment

DESPINA – COSI FAN TUTTE – ST. PETERSBURG OPERA

The ladies shone...with their beautiful singing and comedic staging... Each of the ladies sang...with style and laughter... But Ms. Seipel almost stole the show with her wonderful singing, incredibly expressive face, and her ability to fire off in rapid Italian like she was born to it.

LUCIA – LUCIA OF LAMMERMOOR – OPERA VIVENTE

Opera Vivente's "Lucy of Lammermoor" ... offered an impressive soprano in the title role. Vivente's heroine, Michelle Seipel, demonstrated considerable vocal agility and style... She added interesting embellishments in her Act 1 aria and negotiated the famous mad scene with apparent fearlessness... This was...an admirable effort that met the bel canto challenges quite handsomely... Seipel created a substantive portrayal...

Tim Smith, Baltimore Sun

NORINA – DON PASQUALE – AMERICAN LANDMARK FESTIVAL

As Norina,...delightful soprano Michelle Seipel was vocally thrilling as she launched virtuoso coloratura roulades aloft with ease.

Elena Ciletti, Finger Lake Times

MUSETTA - LA BOHEME – ST. PETERSBURG OPERA

"... the saucy Musetta (Michelle Seipel) delivers a strong (and at times, nearly show-stealing) performance"

Andrew Meacham, Tampa Bay Times

RAQUEL – INTRODUCING HARRY WARREN – RYAN REPERTORY COMPANY

First-rate... Michelle Seipel is a knockout in her rendition of "I Know Now," Warren's soaring early love song.

Robert Windeler, Backstage.com

MRS. BEDWIN – OLIVER! - COLUMBIA ARTISTS NATIONAL TOUR

The cast...effectively injected the emotions of their characters in their songs. Particularly outstanding [was]...Michelle Seipel as Mrs. Bedwin ("Where is Love?").
